

Invitation to a Rural Child Care Strategy Session

Join us in creating a “made in New Brunswick” vision of high quality, accessible, affordable, responsive, inclusive, rural child care services and supports.

- What should child care supports look like in your rural community?
- What kind of services do you need to support the healthy development of your community’s children?
- How could services be organized to respond to the needs of working parents, stay-at-home parents, parents in training and education programs, and/or parents caring for family members, meeting their own health and personal needs or participating in their communities?
- How do we integrate community services with child care to develop a responsive continuum of care for rural community children and families?
- How do we ensure the quality of these services?

Tuesday, December 6, 2005
10am to 5pm - Woodstock, NB
Howard Johnson’s (Exit 188 off Trans-Canada Hwy)

Co-hosted by
New Brunswick Advisory Council on the Status of Women and
Rural Voices for Early Childhood Education and Care

This session will be facilitated by Carol Gott and Jane Wilson who co-manage Rural Voices, a virtual support network for early childhood educators, child care advocates, parents and citizens working together to improve access to child care services for rural remote and northern families across Canada. Carol and Jane have been involved with developing and advocating for child care locally, provincially and nationally for over 15 years.

Places are limited. The session is free but you must pre register by contacting acswwccf@qnb.ca or 1-800-332-3087. Lunch will be provided at the session. An expense claim form will be available to cover participants’ travel expenses.
